

UNIVERSITY OF VETERINARY MEDICINE BUDAPEST

The University of Veterinary Medicine, just like Budapest itself, is a perfect mixture of tradition and innovation. The more than 200 year old roots of teaching veterinary medicine is a solid ground on which the modern and progressive education can flourish.

The diploma students get here is accepted all over Europe guaranteeing that graduates have great opportunities in Europe and all around the world after studying at the University of Veterinary Medicine Budapest.

Students find everything young adults need in Budapest. It is a city with 2 million people with a huge international community which is rapidly growing. The city's rich cultural heritage is just as attractive as its sport opportunities and friendly, cosmopolitan atmosphere.

"I am proud to say that more than 65% of our students are coming from foreign countries and this makes us the most international campus in Europe. We have 28 years of experience of taking good care of our international students and making them feel like home here."

dr. Péter Sótonyi,
rector of University of Veterinary Medicine Budapest

„...the University of Veterinary Medicine, Budapest can claim a proud position among its European counterparts. Its young graduates need not be afraid to compete with their European colleagues with their knowledge and practical skills.”

COMMUNITY

DUAN Jielong, ambassador and dr. Péter Sótonyi rector

Hungary was one of the first countries to recognise the People's Republic of China. The bilateral relations developed steadily and the traditional relationships between the two nations deepened year after year. Thanks to the common efforts the relationship between Hungary and China has developed significantly in the last few years. The results of the cooperation in the fields of economy, trade and culture seem promising, the relation between the two nations has entered the best era in their history.

The Embassy of the People's Republic of China in Hungary considers as a very important charge to promote the Chinese-Hungarian relations in every field and to strengthen the friendship between the two peoples as well.

DUAN Jielong

Ambassador of the People's Republic of China in Hungary

„I love Budapest. I moved here with my parents as a child and I made many friends here. I find Hungarian people very friendly and helpful.“

„Budapest gave me excellent opportunities to study and live in Europe. With my diploma, I can work anywhere in Europe and in most of the world without much inconvenience.“

„I find it very comforting that there is a Chinese community here in Budapest. First, I was afraid that I will feel alone, but the having a Chinese 'safety net' really helped me to feel like home.“

„The English language environment really helped me improve my English. I was shy at first to talk but Budapest is so multicultural and international that English is a very common language of communication. It helped me a lot to gain courage to use English more and more.“
